

LITERARY NOTES.

John Morley's long-promised "Life of Cobden" will be ready soon after Christmas. It will make two octavo volumes.

A new edition of Jean Ingelow's poems in two volumes, with new poems added, is in press for issue this month in London.

The translation of Prince Metternich's autobiography, by Mrs. Napier, is now passing rapidly through the press in London and is promised for issue in November.

The sixth volume of Professor Marron's "Life of Milton" and the fourth of Lucretius' "Natural History" both volumes of very important works, are imminent in London.

The second volume of the third series of the late George Henry Lewes' "Prophets of Life and Mind" is in press. Two subjects are discussed in it, "Miracles as a Function of the Organism" and "The Sphere of the Unconscious."

"Shakespeare's Songs and Sonnets," edited by Francis Turner Palgrave, who is now to be considered the founder of the Golden Treasury Series, will be the next addition to that series. It is expected here in a short time. Selections from Addison and Steele will come in very early.

Prince Oskar's poems, recently published by J. B. Longman & Co., were edited by Mr. Kallmann. In them, while making no appeal at the little press, she is a mere Miss Emily V. Mason, whom we have seen write a number of "Life of General Lee," and now places a volume of "Poems of the War," which is a poem of the War, a poem of the War.

Mrs. W. H. Elgate's School for Boys, Little Britain, is a school for boys, ages 12 to 18, in the summer, and 14 to 18 in the winter. It is conducted by Mr. W. H. Elgate, William A. S. Pitt, Principal.
